“ His smile was contagious. Even when you didn't want to smile back, somehow you did. His cooking had a way of making you smile too—he was a master chef. And, his laugh was one you could recognize from across a room—yet another way he brought a smile to our faces. So, I'm glad to see the picture that was chosen for his obituary. It captures Alex at his best with a big smile! There is no pain or illness. It's the way I want to remember him. Yes, even in death, he's managing to make us all smile.

Rest now my brother,

Claire
