“ My, my, my. I never thought I would be here writing a memory of my dear beloved cousin Dud. Living next door to you and laughing how Cousin Clara would be calling Toya's and Joe name. We laughed, talked, and sang together. We shared things and have one another that support when needed. I will never forget how we would joke about you charging me storage for having jewelry at your house that I still have not picked up, but at least it was paid for. You have struggled with your illness but never gave up. You were always helping others. Now you are reunited with your family and I know there is some conversations going on. RIP Dud. Gonna miss you.
