“ There are never enough words to say when someone has gone from a family that is so close and full of love...but we know that special person has gone to a better place. We wonder here on Earth of what we become and how we became but our love one that we've lost is looking down upon us hoping that we go on with life and to mourn no more....it's truly hard to let go of a father, mother, sister, brother etc. But we go on believing that God's plan works out.
