“ To the memory of JoAn Davis (T-Jo) a beautiful soul. The young lady who was more like a sister to me during my adult years. A Godmother to my son Harold and more like a bonus mom always there with me through all the ups and downs of life. Someone I looked up to as an example of kindness, Love and compassion for all, especially for the children. To say you're gonna be missed is an understatement but know gone from sight and with God you will always be remembered and in our hearts for eternity. Belle ”

“ To T-Jo, as you were affectionately known. I can't express the sadness and disbelief I felt when learning of your passing. When you reached out to me a few wks ago to tell me about your lil battle(as you put it). I told you that I wld be praying for you and that we walk by faith and not by sight, all is well. I figured you start your treatments and again.... All is well! But I guess God had bigger and better plans than I. When I think of a true friend I can honestly say you were one, we didn't visit nor talk on a regular basis but from the beginning of my journey with kidney disease, I cld rest assure you were coming. Whether it was to bring me fruits, a gift or just to let me know “hey I'm here if you need me.” I will cherish the good old days when you, Anna belle and I wld be in The Wind , our destination.... Metro bingo hall or Paragon Casino. lol. All I had to hear was your voice saying “you riding” and I was ready to go. I'm glad you didn't have to suffer and you went home to glory the way you lived your life my friend with dignity and in peace. Love your friend, Linda Walker❤️❤️🙏
