“ *My dearest brother. You were the one who took up for me when Elijah was trying to make me responsible. You would tell him I would catch on to the importance of doing things right and I did. When I saw you for the last time you was sitting on the step waiting for medicine to be delivered for your wife. I drove up and you said get out. When you saw it was me you said, Ha! I didn't know you were here. We talked for awhile and I headed to Lake Charles to catch the plane back to Arizona. I love you very much. I remember what you use to say, "This world owes me nothing, if I died today I would have to write the world a check because this ole world owes me nothing". You will be missed. Your sister. “ It wasn't a day went by that he didn't worry about his wife Margaret. Also if he saw you and was leaving you he would say I love you. I'm going to miss hearing that from you to I love you too and I will take off where you left off taking care of Margaret and that's a promise. Rest In Peace brother
