“ I've known Anthony since we were teens, going over school assignments, talking about life and what was ahead of us, going to dances at the school and the DYA! He'd come to Neubrucke in his dark blue vw Bug to pick me up and we had a blast! As adults we spent a lot of time talking about where we came from and where we are. Anthony was like a brother to me but so much sweeter and loving! Always with his arms open, always answered his phone and always ready to help us with any and everything!!! Before hanging up and before the "Love you's" He always asked "Do you need anything, Anything at all?" I sure am going to miss you until I join you Ant!!! Keep the bench in Heaven warm for me!! I Love you!!

“ My friendship with Anthony began twenty years ago when his Dad introduced me to him. I considered Anthony not just a friend, but rather one of my best friends (and I only had two). As our friendship grew over the years we became more like brothers than just friends, of course he always had to be the one in charge, but there was nothing we wouldn't do for each other. I could always count on him to be there for me in a time of need. He was really a kind hearted person who would do anything for someone in need especially a friend. He and I also spent a lot of time hanging out with his Dad or maybe I should say his Dad loved hanging out with us. I was close to his family and he was close to mine. He would always call me his parents number two son.

We established a Thanksgiving tradition with him joining me, my wife and her sister for Thanksgiving dinner every year until he got married. He would walk in the house with that patented smile of his and that infectious laugh and light up the whole day. That laugh of his is probably going to be one of the things I miss the most about him. We would eat our fill and then get together to watch football. He and I would get us another plate to go and go back to his house to watch more tv. but most times we'd both fall asleep he had his sofa and I had mine. There were other times when he and I would get together for community service projects/church functions as well. I know I'll definitely miss my friend, but I joy in knowing that he's now in a better place.

Evattae you have me and Gaynell's deepest sympathy. We're praying for you as you turn the page into this new chapter in your life. I know you know that God will see you through.

May God bless you,

Miss Me, But Let Me Go
Author Unknown

*When I come to the end of the road,
and the sun has set for me.
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room.
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little—but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that was once shared.
Miss me, but let me go.
For this is a journey we all must take, and each must go alone.
It's all a part of the master's plan, a step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick of heart, go to the friends we know.
Bear your sorrow in good deeds. Miss me, but let me go.*

*Lovingly,
Your cousin,
Sheila Joseph-Jolivette*

“ Dear family of Keith Anthony, I taught with Jim and Barb in Mannheim, Germany and the family has remained dear friends all these years. When I first met them, Keith was a third grader! His sense of humor was well developed then! He would call me Ms Johnson until we would get tickled about something, and then Cyndi would come out. On a trip to Turkey, we had the chance to ride camels. As I was carefully getting up on my camel I heard Keith Anthony cheering and giggling, « Go, Cyndi, go,! Go Cyndi, go! « it was a favorite memory we always laughed about when we got together. Keith kept me informed of the Rodney's illness. We talked on Saturday. I had no idea he was so sick. God bless you, Keith! You always brought a smile to my face. You and your dad were quite the Rodney's!! I will miss you. My sympathy to all of the family.
