“ The day in question.... As bad as we would like to we can't take it back but what can we do about it....will we continue with life as we been living it and wait for the next or will we prioritize some things and change some things and use his memory for an agent of change. Can his death produce something in our life that would really say we care....will we try and talk to some young person and lead them on the right path.... Will we ourselves try to walk down the right path there are many questions we want to ask and many answers we want to dig up but in the end will we change will we repent. It's hard and I know it is but its possible and it must first happen in the mind cause that's satan's first area of attack REPENT FOR THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN IS AT HAND let's step away from the normality of things and make his memory into a legacy....AMEN

“ It's crazy riding to work now when all I can do is look at the seat next to me and keep seeing your face I hired you as a worker but you quickly became a friend. You kept the whole crew laughing every day all day. It's not the same around here I'm waiting every morning to see you pull up and say wassup boss man and say to myself it was all a dream. I'll just focus on what we had and where we been.
