“ Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. Many have found true comfort in the pages of God's word the Bible (2 Corinthians 1:3, 4). In God's word we find the promise that we can be reunited with our loved ones (John 5:28,29; Acts 24:15). The Bible tells us where this happy reunion will take place (Psalm 37:11, 29; Matthew 5:5). We are told why we die (Genesis 3:17-19; Romans 5:12), and that Jehovah, the God of the Bible (Psalm 83:18), will end death forever (Isaiah 25:8; Revelation 21:3,4). At John 8:32 Jesus said " and you will know the truth and the truth will set you free". For more information please visit the website jw.org.

“ I am sorry to hear of your loss. When I have lost loved ones in the past I have been comforted by the promises in the Bible. Revelation 21:4 tells us death will be no more. If you would like to find more comfort from the scriptures please enjoy the online brochure "Can the Dead Really Live Again" on JW.org.

“ Rose, Georgiana, Theresa, John Bruno and the Bruno family
Please know that Bob is in our prayers, although I am certain that he is wrapped up tight in God's arms right now happier than he could have ever imagined! Our cherished memories of Bob brings smiles to our faces. Our prayers will remain with you and your family as you all struggle with the loss of his physical presence. Know that the veil between this world and the next is very thin....he will remain close to you and all that he loves. God bless.....

“ I was saddened to learn of "Mr. Pop's" passing when David called last night. What a delightful, thoughtful person he was! He brought a smile to my face every time I encountered him! I know that he has gone to "meet his Maker" and that all will miss him, but be glad that he has "finished the race" and has got the blue ribbon! God's Peace be with all of his family!

“ Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints. The death of the saints is precious in the Lord's sight. First, because He "seeth not as man seeth". He judgeth not according to the appearance; He sees all things as they really are, not partially: He traces the duration of His people, not upon the map of time, but upon the infinite scale of Eternity; He weighs their happiness, not in the little balance of earthly enjoyment, but in the even and equipoised balance of the sanctuary. In the next place, I think the death of the saints is precious in the sight of the Lord's sight, because they are taken from the evil to come; they are delivered from the burden of the flesh; ransomed by "The Blood of the Redeemer", they are His purchased possession, and now He receives them to Himself. Sin and sorrow for ever cease; there is no more death, the death of Christ is their redemption; by death He overcame him that had the power of death; therefore, they in Him are enabled to say, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" May these thoughts bring peace and comfort to the family's hearts. Yours in Christ-The Harnsberry family.
