The heart of the home is the wife and mother who provides unconditional love to her family. For (John 15:5), "the same can be said for you, as mother; for all life, all wellness, all goodness, and all love, flow from your heart to your husband and children and out to the world. Yes, you are the heart of your home."

Shelia Watson Hubbard lived a God-fearing life with a purpose to love and be loved. Love transcended heaven and Earth and God called her home on May 9, 2016 to rejoin her husband, Michael, in heaven to be together for eternity.

Shelia was born on September 2, 1959 to the late John Robert and Mary Ell Watson. Always with a beautiful smile and kind heart, she graciously served as wife, mother and grandmother. She was blessed to marry her soulmate

The love they shared was unconditional, without boundaries and sanctioned by God. One heart without the other is incomplete, true love drew her to her husband in heaven forever more.

A mother's love is always enduring. To Daniel, Jay and Michael Jude, she would give her all. She showered her grandchildren with a love that only a grandmother could and relished in the role she played in their lives.

“ *Words cannot express the sadness felt in our hearts. Sheila is more than a mother in law to me and grandmother of my children, she always had a listening ear a kind heart. Sheila always welcomed me with open arms reminding me that I will always be her daughter in law. My children's lives will be forever changed, blessed knowing that there are Angels in heaven that know them by name guiding and watching over them. Together again Mike & Sheila...we love you both so...always in our hearts..
Please tell my daddy hi...now you all get to talk to eachother...
Love always,
Tara Hubbard*
