“ Shirley was a strong and independent woman who developed her own business enterprise as the only female and African American woman in the state of Alabama to own a commercial electrical contracting company. She was a powerful woman in her own rite and became successful in an extremely short period of time, while in a male dominated work environment.

I had the experience of working with her and was amazed with her tremendously professional skills in accounting and organizational tasks. In addition, her attentiveness to detail was absolutely amazing. She was so experienced at her craft that it appeared as though it was effortless or nondemanding.

All hail to the Chief of ADTechnologies, LLC!
