“ Dear Aunt Thelma, I recall the times I visited with you over the years, you always referred to me as, my dear brother Jesse's daughter.”

One visit I had with you, after not having seen you for some years, you surprised me. You still had the Mexican poncho I had given you years before, hanging neatly in your closet, covered with launders plastic.

You, Aunt Thelma, helped me overcome my fear of Aunt Wilma, your sister. I was terrified of her loud laughing. I remember, you took her to the side and explained to her that she was, "scaring your dear cousin Karen." She and I shared many cups of coffee following that. Thank you.
