Cousin, I was saddened to hear about Windy's transition. While we've not spent a tremendous time with and around one another, i recall her being a beautiful and loving person and you two having a very special bond and friendship, even as husband and wife - something very admirable.

From the pics and videos ... she lived and enjoyed life to the fullest with the ones whom she loved despite her health challenges. What a testament of determination and perseverance.

I can't begin to imagine how much life is a blur right now given the significant and tangible loss with which you currently cope. I can only pray that God's hand of peace and comfort rests on your heart and mind today and in the days to come. May you find some comfort in knowing that Windy's complete healing and wholeness has been received as she as at rest with her Father and Maker.

Windy's legacy and love continues to live and will continue to speak volumes. May those precious memories warm your heart and bring you much laughter and many smiles.

You and your sons remain in my heart, thoughts and prayers.

*God's Love and Mine,
Angela (Christine) Hill*
